With the exception of a few men who jumped after the 1914 season had started, all the first-class players of the Federal League teams are to be back in the National and American Leagues next year. The return of some of them will have quite an effect on the next pennant race. Among those whose reappearance will estarted the the National and Schools at the National started to the Cardinals; Outfielder Steve Evans, to the Cardinals; Outfielder Vin Campbell, to the Braves; Pitcher Tom Seaton, to the Phillies, and Catcher Arthur Wilson, to the Giants. In order to help the league to have a strong, paying team in New York, Ban Johnson has persuaded all the other clubs to walve on l'itcher Eddie Plank, who has been placed on the open market by Counle Mack, and it is definitely assured that the veteran southpaw will be a Yankee next year. But in the case of Chief Bender, Johnson has had no such success. Every team in the circuit wants him, it is learned, and there will be more or less trouble deciding just what his final destination will be. The Indian is regarded as nuch more valuable than Plank, because of his uncanny ability in stealing the opposing teams' signals, in addition to which he is every bit as good a pitcher as Plank.

All Sorts of All-Star Teams.

All Sorts of All-Star Teams.

There have been many kinds of all-star ball teams selected this year, but the principal kind has been made up of those men who in the selecter's opinion did the best work during the past season. Why not a team which, on every reasonable indication, promises to be the best next year? Here's a shy at such a team: first base, Jake Daubert, Brooklyn: second base, Eddle Collins, Athletics: shortstop, Rabbit Maranyille, Braves: third base, Frank Baker, Athletics; outfielders, Ty Cobb, of Detroit, Tris Speaker, of the Rei Sox, and George Burns, of the Giants; catchers, Ray Scalk, of the White Sox, and Jimmy Archer, of the Cubs; pitchers, Walter Johnson, of Washington, Grover Alexander, of the Pfeffer of Brooklyn, and Christy Mathewson, of the Giants.

Ebbets' Boxing Project Promising.

Ebbets' Boxing Project Promising.

The New York State Athletic Commission, generally called the Boxing Commission, will not issue a boxing license for bouts at Ebbets Field, the Brooklyn baseball park, until the snow melts next spring. As told in this column two months past, the commission had completed its study of the situation and decided to give Ebbets a license. It was waiting only for the official word from the Attorney-General hat such outdoor bouts could be construed as being held in a building if a tent were erected over the ring. In fact, the commissioners themselves told the State Attorney-General that they thought such was legitimate, and hoped be would find it so, too. He did find it so, but not until last week, for he had not been able to take time to get around to the matter.

As a result the weather had become too cold for any bours this year, and the plans for a Ritchie-Weish rejurn match have been set over to next spring. It will be put on at the Brooklyn ball park, unless, in this meantime, the ince should get together to fiske interest out of a further clash. The park will seat se many that at popular prices a large gate could be realized, and since the promoters associated with Ebbetts. Ebbets' Boxing Project Promising.

NEW YORK. November 21.—Jack Curley, who has been identified with boxing and wrestling enterprises for a score of years, is at present engaged in the most arduous undertaking of his protracted career; and if he succeeds he will be looked upon as the savior of Caucasian hopes.

The estimable Mr. Curley has imposed upon himself the task of bringing the world's heavyweight championship back to the white race; and he has the backing of no less a personage than Jess Willard. Curley has been commissioned to bring about a match between Jack Johnson, the maduro champion of the cumbersome boys, and Willard, and the cowboy has pledged himself to conquer the obnoxious Mr. Johnson at all costs.

The match is virtually assured, as self has ever shown. And this seems to be asking too much of even a chappion like Jack Johnson.
